Milam Health Unit Completes 1953 - 54 School Immunizations

Compiled by Milam Health Unit

The Milam County Health Unit completed immunizations for the 1953-54 school term during the month of March.

The County School Nurse has also completed audiograms on children failing audiometric screening tests at Ada Henderson School in Cameron. Doctor-nurse-parent conferences have been held regarding the children failing to show satisfactory hearing ability on the audiogram tests. Students in Sharp and Maysfield schools have also received audiometric tests and visual tests in March.

The absence of the sanitarian, D. S. Wimberly, from duty during March has necessarily curtailed sanitation activities. Only emergency sanitation problems have been followed up by the director of the Health Unit.

J. W. Wilson and Charles A. Shaefer, engineers of Houston, were in Milam County in regard to the percolation tests requested for the Praesel subdivision of Rockdale. It was advised that the services of a consulting engineer be secured for these tests and percolation tests run on each individual not due to the variability of the soil characteristics throughout the tract.

Considerable time is being spent with follow-up of tuberculosis cases and contacts. An effort is being made to tuberculin test and or X-ray all contacts as cases are reported. The x-rays require considerable expense for which no funds are available. Therefore the Health Unit must resort to soliciting funds from individuals.

Follow-up letters are being sent out on all venereal disease patients having records in Health Unit files. Patients are examined and blood tests made in order to determine whether disease is still present or not. Many of these patients were treated several years ago and no follow-up has been made since. Thus all inactive cases will soon be removed from the files.

Preschool examinations were completed on seventeen of the nineteen children expecting to enter the first grade at Buckholts this fall.

Visitors to the Unit during the month were David Parks, Sanitation Consultant, State Health Department; J. B. Doss, V. D. Investigator, State Health Department; J. W. Wilson and Charles A. Shaefer, engineers, Houston; Charles O. Blalcok, Vocational Rehabilitation, Texas Education Agency, Austin.

Dr. John B. Bryson is director of the unit. Other members of the staff personnel are Mrs. Hortense N. Tumlinson, Clerk; Mrs. Billie Gleason, Nurse and D. S. Wimberly, Sanitarian.

Many Areas In County Need Heavy Rain Fall

Many Milam County farmers were relieved by the showers and general rains which fell over a scattered portion of the county last week, while still others are badly in need of moisture.

Areas which received only a few sprinkles were Sharp and Davilla, where Milam County Agricultural Agent J. D. Moore said that the majority of the farmers have not yet planted their principal crops due to the dry conditions. Oats are tremendously in need of rain, now. Moore stated that one-third of the oat crop has been damaged, but even rain at this date would be a great help.

Since the first of April, Camer on proper has received only a little better than three-fourths of an inch rain, with most of it falling in last week's showers. A grand total of only 3.49 inches has fallen since the first of the year.

George Fisher of the PMA office reported that Milano area got a good two inch soaker during last week which boosted the tomato crop considerably. More moisture was reported to have fallen at Gause. He stated that the soil is in top shape for the time being in that vicinity, but before long another rain will be needed. Many of the farmers there will begin planting their watermelon crops now. A large acreage is anticipated, but it is believed that the crop will be delayed this year due to the dry conditions and delay in planting.

Hebert Colburn of Cameron, who farms at Yarrellton, reported that approximately three-fours to one inch rain fell in that area. He reported that some acreage is still too dry for planting and stated that if the land was prepared to retain the moisture during the winter, it would be ready for planting now. "What

GENERAL SUGGESTIONS FOR PREVENTING AND TREATING MILDLY DISEASED TREES

J. D. Moore, County Agent

The Department of Plant Physiology & Pathology at A & M College offer the following timely suggestions:

"Generally speaking, snade trees in Texas are in poor condition now as a result of two extremely cold winters out of the last four and two years of unprecendented drought. Aside from the general undesirability of this situation there is immediate concern about the increased susceptibility of depressed shade trees to weakly parasitic fungi and other pests which do not commonly attack trees in vigorous health. For example, out attention has been called to several cases in Brazos and Travis counties of post oaks, live oaks and Spanish oaks from which the bark had loosened and started to slough off. There was a cream-colored layer of fungus growth beneath the bark which extended a quarter of an inch or more into the wood. The cambium, which is the vital, growing zone in a tree trunk, was killed. When the killed zone girlded the trunk at any given level, it was almost inevitable that parts of the tree above that level died. The fungus in these cases was tentatively identified as a species of HYPOXYLON. Hypoxylons are rotters of dead wood, generally having very little real parasitic ability. Some of them, however, are notorious as attackers of trees suffering the stress of severe drought. This situation is typical of a number of kinds of trouble that may beset shade trees that are not in good heatlh.

Since we tend to notice these troubles only after they have inflicted considerable injury on the tree, and since the best way to control them is by action beforehand to keep the tree so thrifty that it will resist the attacks of weak parasites, the following suggestions are offered as a program which should be beneficial in many of the situations that have been referred to this department.

1. Remove dead limbs, cutting back to live wood. Make the finishing cuts smooth and paint the cut surfaces with asphalt paint thinned to light brushing consistency with kerosene. This disinfects the wound, seals it against invasion by wood-rotting fungi and promotes healing.

2. Inspect the trunk and principal limbs for evidence of any abnormality, such as sloughing bark, conks of bracket fungi, burls or pockets of wood rot. If rots are present, the treatment will depend on the extent of the rot. Small rotted zones can be chiseled out, having care to cut down to clean, healthy wood and leaving cut surfaces smooth. Pockets that will collect water should be reformed by further cutting so that complete drainage is permitted. Finish by painting the wound with asphalt - kerosene as indicated above. Large rotted zones present a more serious problem, because removal of much wood may so weaken the tree that it will break. Treatment may involve bracing the tree with timbers while the work is in progress, cleaning out the rotted wood, allowing drainage, disinfecting and sealing cut surfaces and filling the cavity with reinforced concrete for adequate structural strength. Such operations are often best done by reputable firms specializing in this work.

3. Feed and water the tree by some method appropriate to the situation. The following method is feasible in many locations.

a. build a circular dike of soil around the tree sufficient to hold water 4 inches deep in the basin thus enclosed. The diameter of the basin should equal that of the shade canopy of the tree. For very small trees or shrubs a diameter of 6 feet is suggested.

b. Spread a commercial fertiliber over soil within the dike. The formula and rate of application will depend on the inherent fertility of the soil. As a starter 1 pound of 5-10-5 per cent 100 square feet of soil surface is suggested.

c. Fill the basin with water to a depth of 4 inches and allow to soak in. During the hot, dry part of the year the watering can well be repeated every week or ten days, but discontinued during wet seasons.

d. Repeat the fertilizer application every thirty days during the growing season withholding fertilizer as the tree starts to go into dormancy. Always water well every time fertilizer is added.

A word is in order about lawn grasses in relation to shade trees. A thick turf of grass, such as St. Augustine or Bermuda, is probably beneficial to the mat of tree feeding roots in the top soil, because the cooling effect of the turf tends to protect tree roots fro excessive heat in the summer. On the other hand such grasses are powerful competitors for plant foods in the top soil, and grass roots and tree feeding roots are intermingled, questing for needed minerals in the same soil zone in such a case. It would seem that a good turf around the base of a tree is generally agood thing, but that fertilizer should be applied in amounts allowing for the needs of both tree and grass.

In some instances trees have become victims of the cotton root rot fungus. The above instructions cannot help appreciably in these cases. A tree dying from attacks by the cotton root rot fungus can sometimes be saved by following the instructions under section 3 above, substituting fertilizer grade Ammonioum Sulfate At One Pound Per 10 square Feet for the commercial fertilizer suggested. After the first application of ammonium sulfate and water repeat 10 days later with the same amount of chemical and water. Thereafter no more ammonium sulfate the rest of the growing season but frequent and abundant watering.

When replacing a tree that has been killed by the cotton root rot fungus use only a tree species that is rated MINUS or ONe PLUE in Bulletin 527 of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Copies of that bulletin are obtainable on request to the Station.

For Fungal Leaf Spots on Magnolia leaves, spray the tree 4 times a year, about April 15, May 15, September 15 and October 15 with a standard fixed copper fungicide in water. Keep the tree fertilized and watered as the above instructions.

Copper fungicide may be Copper Compound A, Copper Hydro or tribasic copper sulfate. Mix as directed on package, or for small amounts stir 4 tablespoons into a gallon of water and spray.

Parents Should Begin Preparing Child For Fall School Term

Although the end of the present school term is approximately six weeks away and the new school term doesn't begin for almost five months, it is time for parents to begin preparing for the new school year. This is even more important where a child is entering school for the first time. Among things to be done in this line are completion of immunizations or boosting of previous immunizations, checking of teeth and correction of defects, and a general, thorough physical examination of the child and correction of any defects or abnormalities found. All of these can and should be done before the weather becomes too hot and increases the discomfort of the child undergoing these procedures.

A thorough dental check is necessary to locate minor defects and correct them before these defects become major ones. Cavities in so-called "baby teeth" should be filled in order that these teeth might be preserved until nature thinks it is time for their loss. This is important for several reasons: (1) preservation of these baby teeth gives the child something to chew with until permanent teeth replace them, (2) the alignment of the teeth is retained and new ones are apt to come in straighter if the spaces are kept open by the temporary or baby teeth. (3) some of the temporary teeth, especially the jaw teeth will be retained until the child is ten or twelve years old.

A general, thorough, physical examination by a competent physician should be a must for every child entering school for the first time, even though the child has been under the care of his family physician all his life with periodic medical examinations. A thorough physical examination will often uncover defects that could and should be taken care of before school starts in order that a minimum of absenteeism will occur. The examination should at least cover the following points: Ears, nose, throat, tonsils and adenoids, heart and lungs, skin, abdomen, extremities, feet, skeletal system, posture, height and weight.

In some of the schools in Milam County certain immunizations are required before a child may enter that school. These requirements vary from school to school and the parents should check with the principal of that school as to immunizations needed. In other schools there are no requirements but the parents are asked to fill out request slips for immunizations wanted. The Milam County Health Unit recommends immunization against diphtheria and smallpox as a minimum. Tetanus and typhoid immunizations are also recommended, especially in rural schools. Diptheria or a combination of diptheria and tetanus requires two injections approximattly a month apart. If pertussis (whooping cough) is given with the other agents then three injections are require. A booster should be given on year after the initial series and every three to four years thereafter. Typhoid immunizations require three injections seven to twenty-one days apart with a booster every two years thereafter. Smallpox vaccinations should be done during the first year of life, on entrance to school and every five years after in order to maintain one's level of immunity and prevent additional scars after the first one.

While Junior is receiving his shots and redaying for school it is a good idea to bring little brother or sister along so they can start getting their shots early in life. Opinion varies among physicians as to what age an infant may start to receive his "shots" but nearly all will agree to start by the age of six months. Some doctors will start these injections as early as three or four months before the protection received from his mother against these diseases disappears from a child's system, other doctors start later. However, the child should be protected during his preschool life as well as his school life.

Wiley Loughmiller, principal of Ada Henderson School in Cameron stated that the child entering school for the first time here is required to have a small pox immunization, and he also strongly urged that these children be given diphtheria vaccinations.

Loughmiller emphazied that no child will be enrolled in the school unless they present a small pox vaccination certificate and a birth certificate. Spring registration for children entering school for the first time will be on May 7 in the Yoe Gymnasium during the hours 2:30 until 3:45 p.m.

"We would appreciate parents registering their children at this time so that we will have a general idea of the number of first year studtnts who will enter in the fall," Loughmiller stated.

He also added that parents may also at this time file their child's birth and small pox certificates with him.

Gas Modernizes Milam Dwellings

Liquefied petroleum, sometimes called bottled gas, has been a big factor in the modernization of a majority of Milam County's 7,000 homes in the past five years.

A study by the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association shows that the high heat fuel has pushed many wood-burning cookstoves and kerosene heaters into obscurity and has helped homemakers here take advantage of modern automatic equipment for kitchens, laundries and comfort heating.

In fact, GAMA says, 70 per cent of the homes in this county do not receive utility gas and most of them rely on bottled gas for appliance operation.

Since 1949 domestic use of this fuel has risen more than 40 per cent, and during the same period, GAMA points out, "the farm kitchen revolution has been at its height with the result that rural homes generally are more completely equipped with modern work-saving appliances than city dwellings."

Manufacturers of gas clothes dryers report public interest here in this compartively new member of the gas appliance "family" which eliminates the clothesline and saves laundry damage from frost, dust and windlashing. Non-farm rural homes also have taken kindly to the high-speed gas incinerator as an answer to garbage and trash disposal problems.

Miller To Attend Law Confernece At Baylor University

Jim Miller, County Attorney of Milam County will attend the Attorney General's Fourth Annual Conference on Law Enforcement at Baylor University in Waco, April 26, 27 and 28.

Attorney General John Ben Shepperd called the annual meeting to discuss problems and new methods of prosecutors, judges and peace officers of Texas.

The meeting will be jointly sponsored by the Attorney General's Office and the School of Law of Baylor.

The Texas statutes authorize the Attorney General to convene law enforcement officials in order to determine law enforcement practices and polices.

Over 400 law enforcement officers are expected to attend from every part of the state. Included among those present will be Justices of the Court of Criminal Appeals, District and County Judges, District and County Attorneys, Sheriffs, Police Chiefs, Justices of the Peace and Constables. Last year's meeting held in Austin was attended by 315 delegates.

Topics for discussion included state-wide crime report, prison narcotics, juvenile delinquency, and pail problems, control of lie detector techniques, hot check legislation and trial and appeal of criminal cases.

Shepperd said that General Manager O. B. Ellis of the Texas Prison System will discuss methods and value of rehabilitating convicted criminals. David B. Irons of the United States Department of Justice will discuss federal control of subversives.

"This conference is a practical means for law enforcement officials to exchange ideas on crime fighting, "Shepperd pointed out.

Goodhue Rogers Has Outstanding Grass Seed Patch

In spite of the drouth this spring many farmers in this arta are still making plans and preparing land for grass seedings. Some have already dry seeded and are now ready for that badly needed rain.

Of those that have their grass seed in the ground, the seedings made by Goodhue Rogers, a few miles south of Cameron, are the most outstanding.

He purchased this farm early this year and has set up his plans to develop it into an outstanding stock farm.

To do this he decided that his first job would be to get the best combination of grasses and legumes growing; then follow with the kind of management and treatment that will produce the most pounds of beef. At the same time Rogers will conserve the soil and increase its productivity.

He seeded about 23 acres of different grasses this year on cultivated land overseeded several acres of native pasture.

Mr. Rogers treats his grass plantings just like they were a cash crop. Instead of being content with a hap-hazard seed bed he used the breaking plow, the disc, harrow and cultipacker then covered the seed at just the right depth in what is considered by authorities an almost perfect seed bed.

Before his careful planting Rogers fertilized according to the needs of the land.

On this 23 acres Mr. Rogers has planted several grasses; among them are King Ranch Bluestem, Buffalo grass, Little Bluestem, Bermuda, Velve Mesquite and Fescue.

This grass planting project is centrally located and is one that we, of the Soil Conservation office, will be using as a demonstration, to show which grasses are best adapted to this area, and how they should be seeded.

Rogers has participated in the Conservation activities of the district for many years and it is thought by Conservation officials that his work with grasses will help promote grass planting and management objectives throughout this district.

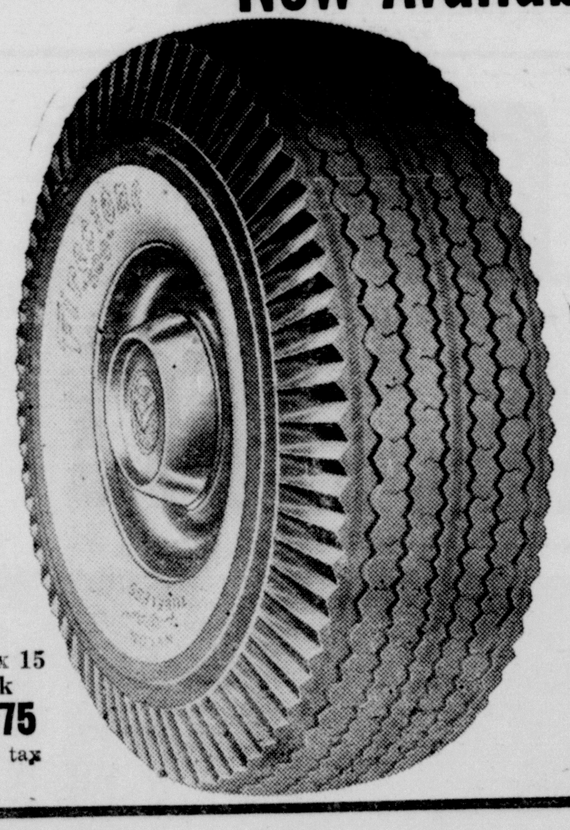
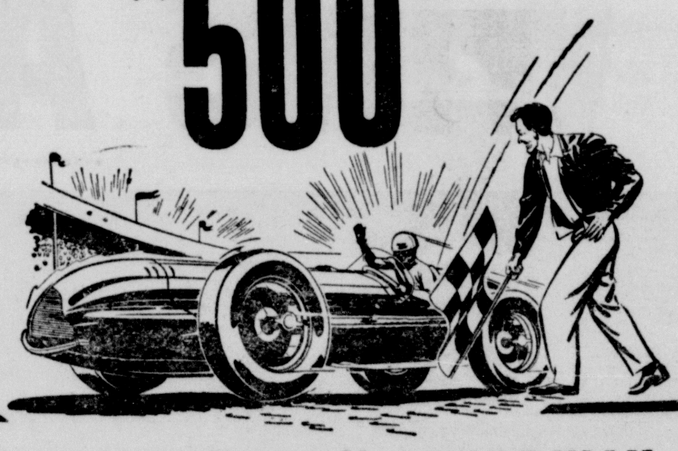
Amazing New Tire Developed at Indianapolis
Now Available for Your Car



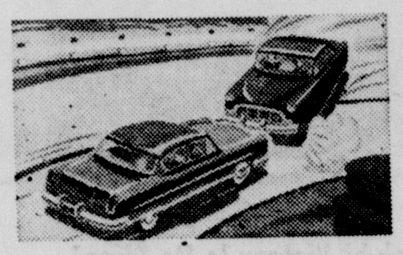
670 x 15 Black 28.75 plus tax

WORLD'S FIRST
All-Nylon Tubeless
Firestone
"500"



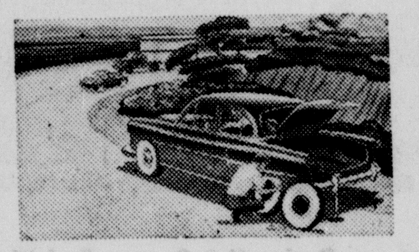
TESTED AND PROVED AT THE "500" SPEEDWAY FOR USE ON TODAY'S HIGH-SPEED SUPER HIGHWAYS

Runs safely up to 15 m.p.h. faster than ordinary tires



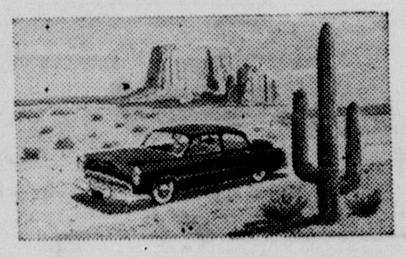
A combination of race-tire engineering and nylon construction makes the Firestone "500" the safest high-speed tire ever developed. In hundreds of tests at the Speedway, this tire was proven safe at speeds far in excess of normal highway driving speeds, giving the motorist up to 15 mph safety margin over ordinary tires.

Withstands continuous high-speed running many hours longer



The new Firestone "500" is a brute for punishment. With a nylon cord body, a full 91% stronger than ordinary tires, it defies road shocks. Unlike other tires which develop "body fatigue" after a few hours of driving, the "500" can be driven continuously without growing weak or "tired."

Endures up to 40° higher summer road temperatures



The "500" was subjected to thousands of miles of high-speed driving over blistering desert roads where the mercury reached 120° in the shade. Under these torturous driving conditions, ordinary tires frequently "pop" like toy balloons, but the Firestone "500" was proved blowout-safe at these higher road temperatures.

Special Safti-Liner Protects Against Punctures

Safer from flats because the air-tight butyl Safti-Liner that's bonded to the inside of the tire clings to nails to prevent air loss. Since there's no tube to pierce or explode, you get extra blowout protection too.

New Tread Increases Skid Protection

The outer ribs remain open to provide a suction-cup action on slippery pavement, while the inner ribs mesh together to create a positive biting action for sure-footed traction on starts, stops, and turns.

Race-Tire Construction Increases Mileage

An entirely new cold rubber tread compound developed under a new chemical formula makes possible a tread of race tire toughness, providing much longer mileage. Stronger cord body permits more retread miles too.

Summer Recreation Program Discussed By School Board

School board members agenda was crowded with needs, both curricula and extra-curricula, at Wednesday nights meeting in the Superintendents office.

First topic up for discussion was the question of whether or not the Clarkson school will be continued next school year. Superintendent W. T. Hanes pointed out that there are not enough children listed on the daily average attendance records to justify a teacher.

Former Clarkson schooi board member, who was present to plead the school be continued, said that all of those attending, composed of mostly Mexican students, want to continue at the Clarkson school instead of being transferred into Yoe schools. He asked if it wouldn't futher congest the busses in that area, which are already too crowded.

Dr. C. G. Swift, president of the board, said that the matter will be thoroughly investigated and it might prove that it will be less expensive to keep the school open than to transport the children.

Next broached was the need for supervised summer recreation for the Cameron children.

Joe O'Neill, Allen Dodson and two others interested in furthering the recreation program with a Little League, which will provide baseball facilities for youngsters from the ages of eight to 12, and a Pony League for the boys from 12 to 15, requested the use of the land east of the school which was recently purchased by the board.

They explained that all they asked was the use of a field sufficiently lit so that the boys could safely play ball during the evening.

He stated that interest in the project is very high, and several civic organizations and merchants have expressed their consent to suiting the boys and furnishing equipment if a field can be found.

Outlining the necessary lighting equipment, O'Neill reported that a minimum of lighting, eigh poles at $21.50 per pole, and four lights to the pole, would be sufficient.

Frank Reid, board member, stated that every member is sympathetic to the formation of summer recreation programs; there is definitely a need for it—but, financing one would be the question.

A committee of Leo Fuchs and Reid was appointed to work with Coach Leo Jackson to determine the cost of lighting the field, and the boards decision on whether or not they can afford to light the field will be given by next week.

After discussion of a Little League there was a short forum on the possibility of a complete summer recreational program, which would meet the needs of all of the children. Hanes said that in his opinion school should serve the community at least 11 months and two directors a man and a woman should be hired to supervise the activities.

Again the only flaw in the situation was the financial aspect, since there are numerous repairs which must be made to the school plants this year.

It was decided that six of the school busses will be made availables, as requested, to the Alcoa plant in Rockdale for their tours to the strip houses during their open house next weekend. Te only provision was that Cameron busses must be operated by school personnel and drivers would not be compelled to drive if they do not want to.

After a short discussion on the names to be put on the plaques on the new buildings, board members decided to think about names suitable and make a definite decision at their next meeting.

Hanes then requested that a secretary be furnished to S. M. Layfield, High school principal. He pointed out that Layfield's educational knowledge and abilities are exceptional and instead of having time to contribute his full energies to a better school program, much of his time is spent keeping records that a secretary would be capable of handling.

It was unanimously agreed that a secretary for Layfield will be hired for the coming school term.

Board members then made a short tour of the Yoe high school building and discussed the necessary repairs and purchases of new furniture for some of the rooms.

School authorities were given the authority to purchase the necessary equipment for the rooms and also for the new cafeteria now being erected.

The summer maintenance program was discussed at length and it was the boards decision that necessary repairs will be made during the summer months.

Lyndon Johnson Says Texas Leads In Rural Telephone Loans

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson has been informed by the Rural Electrification. Administration that Texas has received more loans and more money from the REA for the rural telephone program than any other state.

Twenty-five loans, totaling $18, 029,218 have been made by the REA for the Texas part of the rural telephone program since it was started in 1950. Subscribers to be served in Texas under loans made to date total 34,462.

Senator Johnson said that, throughout the nation, 252 borrowers have received $162,477,218 to serve 366,325 subscribers under the program.

"The bringing of new and improved telephone service to farms and other rural places is a very important part of the overall REA program," Senator Johnson said.

"I am glad that Texas is in the forefront in extending telephone service to rural areas. Many of our farmers are now receiving telephone service for the first time, and many others are getting better service than they have ever had before."

The Texas Senator said REA Administrator Ancher Nelsen has announced that during the present fiscal year, ending June 30, telephone loans will total about $74,000,000.

Texas Has Increased Acreage In Tomatoes And Cantaloups

By J. D. Moore, County Agent

The United States Department of Agriculture at Austin has released the following information on Cantaloupe and Tomato production in Texas.

A record of 61,800 acres of spring cantaloups are available for harvest in Texas, California, Florida and Arizona this year. This is an increase of 46 percent over the acreage for harvest last year and 113 percent larger than average. The increase in acreage has occurred largely in Texas where the availability of irrigated land and the successful cantaloup deal of 1953 stimulated grower interest in the crop. The bulk of the Texas cantaloup acreage is in the Lower Valley but substantial plantings were also made at Rio Grande City and Laredo. About 90 percent of the crop is irrigated and sufficient water has been available to date for all acreage. Fields in the west end of the Lower Valley are farthest advanced and they will furnish a light harvest the last few days of April. Bulk of the early acreage in this section will not be in production until early May, and it appears that peak production will occur when all Texas sections are producing heavily in late May and early June.

The early spring tomato crop is currently estimated at a record 8,815,000 bushels. This is about one-fourth larger than the 1949-52 average production by 31 percent. The expected increase in production over last year is due largely to higher yields anticipated in Florida and higher yields on a larger acreage in the Lower Valley of Texas. In the Lower Valley of Texas, prospects for early spring tomatoes on April 1 were good. The crop was planted under favorable conditions, and water for irrigation has been ample to date. Production from a few early fields began just after mid-March but no significant volume moved up to April 1. During April, production will be active the last half of the month. Movement to April 1 has all been by truck but carlot loading is expected to start early in April. With a favorable market, the crop is expected to move through mid-June.

Since April 1 soaking rains have fallen in the Lower Valley south Texas have received some and most vegetable areas of rainfall. North Texas onions and some east Texas tomato areas also received added moisture.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

By Herman Yezak

April 5-9. The thirty - day special session officially ended at noon Tuesday April 13. Teachers were virtually assured an annual pay raise of $402., and state employees were appropriated a ten dollar per month salary increase. Governor Shivers has not indicated when the bills will be signed. The three-point tax measure will be signed before the bills appropriating increased expenditures for teachers and state employees.

When the Communist control bill, recommended by the Governor's Industrial Committee, was passed it concluded the program for which the session was specifically called for. As soon as the house passed the Communist control bill on last Thursday, the Governor submitted seventeen new proposals for the legislature to consider during the remaining time of the special session.

To get the added recommendations passed the House stayed in session all day Friday until after midnight. During the lengthy session all bills that were approved by a committee were passed. A constitutional provision prohibiting the passage of any bill that did not clear a committee before the last seventy-two hours of a session will bar final passage of most House bills that were passed in the rush season Friday. A Senate committee was in session late Saturday night to consider several of the bills passed by the House on Friday night to beat the deadline by Saturday midnight.

The Governor asked for emergency legislation to create ten new special courts for a term of two years in eight areas of the state. These court bills were being pivoted through final passage.

The House approved a bill to make it unlawful to abandon an ice box in a place accessible to children.

A bill to appropriate available funds to construct needed buildings at the Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, Dental School in Houston, Deaf and Dumb School in Austin, and the Eastham prison farm in Houston County was passed. This appropriated measure calls for an expenditure of nearly eleven million dollars.

The teacher's salary bill was passed by a top-heavy vote of 131 to 6, and the state employees measure was passed by a heavy vote of 133-5. Most of the legislation that was passed during the special session received lop - sided majorities.

Your telephone bill reduced by excise tax cuts April 1

The excise tax cuts voted by Congress are good news for all telephone customers.

You benefit on long distance calls. Here the tax cut reduces your cost 12% in most cases.

But your bill for local service will be less, too — approximately 5% less.

You get the full benefit of these tax reductions. Not a penny goes to the telephone company.

Now it costs even less to "talk it over by long distance." And your local service, too, is an even bigger bargain.

A-2c Bartley Braden, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Braden of Cameron is now stationed with the Northeastern Air Command at Thule Air Force Base, Greenland. Thule AFB situtated in the extreme part of northwestern Greenland, is the "northermost settlement in the world" only a scant few hundred miles from the North Pole and closer to Moscow, Russia than any U. S. possession.

The word Thule comes from the Latin words "Ultima Thule" meaning "fartherest possible limit." Thule AFB, the costliest military project ever built, was constructed late in 1951 under th secret military heading, "Operation Bluejay."

Here 5,000 lonely airmen and only 3 females (Air Force nurses) live in this isolated, remote artic region where only a few years ago it was believed that only the Eskimo could survive the sever winters with its months of total darkness, 50 below zero weather and 110 mph snow storms when neither man nor machine can move. But now the airmen live comfortably in specially constructed barracks built like large refrigerators in reverse, to keep the cold out and the heat in.

Airman Braden's tour of duty in the artic will be one year, he works in the Medical Supply section of the hospital and reports he is slowly getting accustomed to the weather and that he likes his work very much. LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER COMES UP WITH UNWORKABLE DEFENSE IDEA AGAINST THE AWFUL HYDROGEN BOMB

Editors note: The Little River Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Little River won't get anywhere with his idea this week, but that never has stopped him.

Dear editar:

I was out here the other afternoon watchin my rain gaugh while we were getting a little shower, there are few pleasures in life greater than the fun of watchin rain fall after a long drouth, even a shower, and I found a water - soaked newspaper caught in a clump of weeds and took it to the house and dried it out, some newspapers are dull enough when dry but when wet they're about like water - logged lightbread.

The only article in the paper that attracted my attention was one about a United States Senator who was urgin the government to put up cash awards for inventions for defense, to head off the inventions for attack.

Accordin to this Senator, the government ought to put up some real money to get the inventors to turn their minds toward defense, and he wants to offer as much as $75,000 per idea if it'll work.

I think this fellow is on the right track, although I don't know what the rsults will be. There are some people who say man isn't as smart say as insects. Take flies. When man brought out DDT a few years ago, it must have been as alarming and nerve-wrecking to flies as the hydrogen bomb is to man, but what happened? The flies where they had developed in immunity to DDT, even without the help of government cash.

But I contend man is as smart as most insects, and I would like to see this new program of defense invention started. What the defense against a hydrogen bomb will be, I have no idea. As I understand it it'll dig a hole 150 feet deep and spread heat for miles around, so bomb shelters are out. Tryin to intercept a plane carryin one of them bombs is hazardous and sooner or later one of em is bound to get through.

What we really need is something along the line of radar rays of some sort which can be sent out all over the world from one spot and explode the bomb ahead of time. Probably wouldn't anything slow a man down from making a bomb as the knowledge somebody else was likely to make it go off before he was ready to drop it. Very few people would be interested in carrying a time bomb around in their coat pocket if somebody else was in charge of the clock.

If you think this idea will work, go ahead and work out the mechanical details while I move on to other thinkin and we'll split the $75,000. I advise speed, though. We may not have much time.

Your faithfully,
J. A.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

So They Stopped Baiting Each Other

If you want to hear a real hassle, listen to Cob James and Whitey Baker on trout fishing sometime. You'd think it was more important than anything.

Cob favors dry flies. Whitey pooh-poohs anything but wet flies. Cob swears by a Fan-Wing Royal Coachman; Whitey won't hear of anything but Silver Doctor. And so it goes—they can't even get together on steel rods versus bamboo rods.

But on Saturday, each got back from Fox Creek with a catch that couldn't have differed by more than a couple of ounces! Then over a friendly glass of beer, they allowed as how maybe they were both right . . . which is how so many arguments should end.

From where I sit, life would be a whole lot pleasanter if we all respected one another's opinions—whether about trout flies, or having a glass of beer, or voting. After all, a person has a right to follow his own line of thinking.
